

BRIEFING #1

WWW.ONADVICE.CO.UK

NOVEMBER 2012

Compliance Training

Looking at just one aspect of Health and Safety legislation - Asbestos - there is a legal requirement to have people trained.

The Control of Asbestos Regulations (CAR) 2012, requires that all employees that, in the course of their duties, may come into contact with asbestos must have appropriate training. This is extended to those who supervise.

On Advice have found a cost effective method for ensuring compliance with HSE regulations, is to bundle a number of topics together to be delivered in either half or full day sessions.

Our time is Now - After gaining 22 years' experience in occupational health consultancy and 10 years at the top level of managing businesses. This is the inaugural note from my company, On Advice Limited.

A Chartered Environmentalist, Chartered Scientist, CCP (Certified Competent Person) and listed in the UK Register of Expert Witnesses.

We can offer consultancy and advice on many aspects of Occupational and Environmental Health. We offer cost effectiveness and can use our knowledge and expertise to directly save costs on projects ensuring that only necessary works are carried out.

ASBESTOS SURVEYS

Our Surveyors are fully qualified to undertake Asbestos Surveys and report in accordance with HSG 264, either Management Surveys designed to ensure that employees are provided with a safe place of work, in their usual day to day activities, or Refurbishment Demolition (R&D) Surveys. R&D surveys typically undertaken on vacant premises in conjunction with a design specification with the desired purpose of eliminating delays to any project.

Our Ethos is to build our business by always delivering what the Client needs. Unlike some of our competitors, we believe that by ensuring that no customer is taken for granted or taken advantage of, our client base will grow and both our and our client's future will be guaranteed stronger.

"Coming together is a beginning; keeping together is progress; working together is success."
- Henry Ford

CONTACT: JASON@ONADVICE.CO.UK M: 07712 190379